

Emergency Connectivity Fund

Service Provider Invoice (SPI) Affirmation

Cable One d/b/a Sparklight (“Sparklight”) is participating in the Emergency Connectivity Fund (“ECF”), a $7.17B federally funded program providing funding support to schools and libraries to benefit students requiring broadband connectivity assistance during the COVID-19 emergency.

Sparklight agrees to implement the “SPI invoicing method” and invoice the federal government rather than invoicing the Applicant school or library directly, if requested to do so by the Applicant. Applicant must specify at the application stage whether SPI invoicing or direct invoicing is desired.

Prior to the start of service, Applicants who select the SPI invoicing methodology will execute a Service Agreement with Sparklight.

Applicants are responsible for payment for Services agreed to in the Service Agreement including during periods when Applicant may not be eligible for support, or during periods for which USAC fails to reimburse Sparklight for service. Applicant is also responsible for services or amounts not covered by USAC support.

While Sparklight will make all reasonable efforts to assist Applicant in requesting funding, Sparklight is not responsible for the Applicant’s compliance with FCC and USAC rules and regulations.

Applicants choosing SPI invoicing are informed that if ECF funding ends before the term of Applicant’s Service Agreement, Applicant is financially responsible for the agreed upon rate of service for the remainder of the contract.
